GRAND JURORS MEET, CONSIDER 'SLOT' EVIDENCE

Prosecutor's Under-

CRIMINAL DOCKET UNUSUALLY LIGHT

Only Eighteen Cases Are Remanded From Lower Courts

LISBON, Jan. 4.—A gambling probe instigated by Prosecutor Karl Stouffer, coupled with one of the lightest criminal dockets in several years, will mark the session of the January grand jury, opening Monday at the courthouse.

Evidence gathered by two undercover agents in an extension of the prosecutor's drive against slot machine operators and other types of gamblers, together with 18 cases remanded from lower courts, will be presented to the jury for its consideration.

Says He Has Evidence

Stouffer, who opened a campaign against number writers and slots over a year ago, decided to renew his drive following receipt of information indicating the re-appearance of slot machines in the county. He says they have again disappeared in several sections of the county but stated he had sufficient evidence in many instances to act.

No major crimes are included in the transcripts awaiting grand jury action—in sharp contrast to the September session when two first degree murder indictments were returned. Charles Flory of Center township and Frank Moore, East Liverpool, are now serving sentences in the penitentiary on bills returned by the preceding body.

The bound over from lower courts include: Albert W. Hoffacker, Columbiana, embezzlement; Ursen McKee, Columbiana, larceny; Cecil Adams, Salineville, operation a motor vehicle without the owner's consent; John Joseph Higgins, Salem, issuing a worthless check.

Phillip Hays, Salem, carrying concealed weapons; Harry Lester, Union township, forgery; Albert Meredith, Columbiana, driving while intoxicated, operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent and reckless driving; E. J. Moore, Salem, forgery.

Carl L. Mathews, Salem, issuing a worthless check; Wesley Baird, Columbiana, trespassing; Kenneth Powell and Floyd Thomas, East Liverpool, assault; Kenneth Powell, East Liverpool, shooting with intent to kill; Tillie Schweiker, Salem, embezzlement.

Paul Barnes, Salem, operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent; J. B. Gunesch, Salem, embezzlement; Russ Higgins, East Liverpool, operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent; Paul Ford, Lisbon, larceny.

Trespassing Case

One of the most unusual cases involves Wesley Baird of Columbiana, who was bound over to the grand jury on an affidavit signed by Mrs. Ella Kerr, who charged Baird with trespassing. Mrs. Kerr claims that the defendant buried his wife, Mrs. Kathryn Baird, on an East Fairfield cemetery lot be-

FRANKFURTER IS APPOINTED U. S. JUSTICE

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Felix Frankfurter of Massachusetts, professor of the Harvard law school, was named by President Roosevelt today to be an associate justice of the Supreme court.

Frankfurter was named to the vacancy created by the death last July of Benjamin N. Cardozo of New York.

Frankfurter has had a long legal background. His chief sponsor on Capitol Hill was Senator Norris (Ind., Neb.), one of the leading liberals in congress.

Frankfurter, who is 56 years old and a native of Vienna, former Austria, has been law professor at Harvard since 1914.

Frankfurter was the third appointment President Roosevelt has made to the tribunal.

Justice Cardozo died July 9 after a long illness of heart disease. The new appointment is not expected to change the court's liberal-conservative lineup.

Cardozo, until he became ill on Dec. 10, 1937, led all his colleagues in supporting Roosevelt administration legislation brought before the tribunal.

Capone Still Owes Government $20,000

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—The government still has $20,000 coming from Al Capone but it will be ready when it's called for, his attorney said today.

Abraham Teitelbaum, counsel for the former Chicago gang lord, delivered a check for $35,000 and $2,692.29 in cash to the federal court clerk yesterday.

That represented the court costs and fines assessed Capone after his conviction on three felony counts charging failure to pay income tax.

"We had a hard time raising it," remarked the attorney.

Upon his release from Alcatraz island prison, Capone must serve an additional year in a county jail and pay a $20,000 fine for failure to file income tax returns.

O. C. STURGEON RITES PLANNED

Funeral for Octogenarian
Here at 2:30 P. M.
Saturday

Funeral service for Othello C. Sturgeon, 84, of Salem, who died Wednesday morning in St. Petersburg, Fla., where he was spending the winter, will be held at 2:30 p. m. Saturday at the First Christian church in charge of Rev. C. F. Evans, pastor, and Perry lodge No. 185, F. & A. M. Burial will be in Grandview cemetery.

The body will arrive in Salem Friday. Friends may call at the Stark Memorial from 7 to 9 tomorrow evening.

Mr. Sturgeon had been in his usual good health until one week ago when he suffered a stroke from which he failed to rally.

He is survived by two brothers, Dr. Jesse Sturgeon of Salem and William M. Sturgeon of Pittsburgh; an adopted son, R. C. Sturgeon of Toronto, Canada, and several nieces and nephews. Miss Addie Bousall of the Ellsworth rd., with whom he made his home, is a niece. Ralph Sturgeon of Salem is a nephew.

Born Dec. 8, 1854, in North Georgetown, Mr. Sturgeon was the son of Dr. and Mrs. Eli Sturgeon. He spent his early life in Salem and vicinity and was married to Addie Bousall of Salem on Oct. 11, 1876. At the time of his marriage, Mr. Sturgeon was employed by the Kittredge Cornice and Ornament Co. here.

In 1880 the couple moved to Cleveland where they resided before moving to St. Paul and Minneapolis. Later Mr. and Mrs. Sturgeon moved to Milwaukee where he was employed for about 30 years as accountant for the Lindsay Brothers Wholesale Hardware Co.

Mr. Sturgeon retired from active business life about 14 years ago and in 1926 he and Mrs. Sturgeon celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in Salem. Following Mrs. Sturgeon's death in 1928, Mr. Sturgeon came to Salem.

He spent considerable time traveling, visiting relatives and friends and indulging in his favorite sport, fishing. He has spent the past three winters in St. Petersburg, where he was a member of the famous Three-Quarter Century club, taking an active interest in the programs of the organization.

Mr. Sturgeon had been a Mason for many years and he and Mrs. Sturgeon were charter members of Pearl chapter No. 2, Order of Eastern Star, of Cleveland. He maintained a deep interest in church life of the communities in which he lived. While retaining interest in his Milwaukee church, he placed a membership in the Salem Christian church when he took up residence here.

GERMAN PRESS SCORES SPEECH BY PRESIDENT

Nazis Charge Roosevelt's Defense Talk Preaches "Hatred"

PRAISE IS GIVEN BY DEMOCRACIES

English Wish It Had Been Head of Own Government Speaking

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, Jan. 5.—The German press scored President Roosevelt's defense address today, charging it preached "hatred," while the democracies gave praise and one important British newspaper lamented that the "challenging denunciation of dictatorships" was not made by its own head of government.

European officials studied the speech as one of the most important declarations coming from Washington since the World war.

Hope for Neutrality Changes

The democracies hoped it was a prelude to major changes in American foreign policy, giving particular attention to the possibility of revision of neutrality legislation.

Both the German Nazi and the Italian Fascist press accused the President of playing domestic politics and of deserting the isolation policy of George Washington.

Some Soviet Russian newspapers, in brief summaries, emphasized points on preparedness against aggression and the neutrality law but omitted passages about the democracies and religion. There was no editorial comment.

It was the liberal Manchester Guardian which contrasted the President's declaration against "dictatorship" with Prime Minister Chamberlain's "timid exercises in the same field," presumably in pursuit of this policy of appeasing the dictators to maintain world peace.

"Most English men and women, when they listened to President Roosevelt, must have wished sadly that it was the head of their own government who was saying these things," the Guardian said.

"Lies," Say Nazis

The German Zeitung Am Mittag charged the speech was based on "gross atrocity lies" and stated that "Washington's new policy seems to be to preach blind hatred and unscrupulous estrangement between the two continents."

Asserting Germany knew "this orator speaks only for himself," the newspaper added that "the American people want peace and not the unrest which Roosevelt so assiduously preaches."

Officials in most capitals were reluctant to comment in view of the unstable European condition and Prime Minister Chamberlain's imminent visit to Premier Mussolini in Rome.

Italian Fascists dismissed the speech as "needless alarm." President Roosevelt "is arousing fears of aggression that do not exist," Il Popolo Di Roma said. Il Messaggero said that "Roosevelt is pessimistic over the fate of democracy."

The Paris press both right and left in sympathies reported the speech favorably with long excerpts, emphasizing the prospect of neutrality law revision.

British foreign office officials clearly approved the address but indicated that official enthusiasm might be "inconvenient" later in dealing with dictatorships.

Army Reservists Urged to Enroll

FIGHT LOOMING ON NEUTRALITY

FDR's Challenge to Aggressors Stirs Up Congress Conflict

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—President Roosevelt's challenge to aggressor nations stirred up a congressional conflict today over revision of the neutrality law.

Chairman Pittman (D-Nev.) of the senate foreign relations committee interpreted a portion of the President's annual message as an invitation to congress to revamp the act, but he said there has been no suggestion as to the form the revision should take.

There were signs that any attempt to repeal the law would meet with strong senate resistance.

Defended By Nye

"The American people wrote that law," said Senator Nye (R-N. D.). "It was legislation to keep this country out of other people's wars. I don't believe that any force can repeal it."

The neutrality law directs the President to prohibit export of arms to warring nations. A "cash and carry" provision gives him power to limit shipments of supplies to those bought for cash and transported in vessels of the purchasing nation. A specific amendment bars arms shipments to Spain.

The President told congress yesterday that this country should avoid any action or lack of action that would encourage, assist or build up an aggressor.

"We have learned that when we deliberately try to legislate neutrality," Mr. Roosevelt said, "our neutrality laws may operate unevenly and unfairly — may actually give aid to an aggressor and deny it to the victim. The instinct of self-preservation should warn us that we ought not to let that happen any more."

Pittman suggested a study of the question of restricting exportation of raw materials which can be converted to war uses. There now is no provision for an embargo on such materials.

Senator Nye, while opposing repeal of the neutrality law, said he would favor amendments to the "cash and carry" sections as well as complete repeal of the Spanish embargo act.

"By the embargo congress merely tied the hands of one party while the other Spanish faction had ready access to supplies and aid from Germany and Italy," Nye said.

"Any attempt to let the President pick the aggressor in an international dispute would be dangerous," he added. "I don't think the people or the congress would want it."

Some High Spots In Roosevelt's Budget Message

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Highlights of President Roosevelt's budget message to congress:

"Sound progress toward a budget that is formally balanced is not to be made by heavily slashing expenditures or drastically increasing taxes."

"On the contrary, it is to be sought by employing every effective device we have at our command for promoting a steady recovery, which means steady progress toward the goal of full utilization of our resources. We can contribute very materially toward that end by a wise tax program."

"A year ago I recommended an increase in work relief, public works, and other related expenditures to check the downward spiral of business. The program undertaken at that time has contributed materially, I believe, to the existing upward movement of business and employment."

"I believe I am expressing the thought of the most far-sighted students of our economic system in saying that it would be unwise either to curtail expenditures sharply or to impose drastic new taxes at this stage of recovery."

"The greater part of the budgetary deficits that have been incurred have gone for permanent, tangible additions to our national wealth. The balance has been an investment in the conservation of our human resources, and I do not regard a penny of it as wasted."

SPLIT OVER U. S. SPENDING SEEN

Republicans and Democrats Join In Criticism
Of Expenditures

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Prospects of another federal deficit in 1940 highlighted congressional discussion today over the spending policy laid down in President Roosevelt's annual message.

The emphasis the chief executive gave to continuation of federal "investments" on a large scale left no doubt that Uncle Sam again would live considerably beyond his income in the year starting July 1.

Neither was there any doubt that heavily increased expenditures for defense would help keep the budget out of balance.

The "investments" proposed for next year were detailed in a budget message. Mr. Roosevelt sent the long, technical document to the capitol to be droned by clerks, in contrast to his own dramatic appearance yesterday.

Cue For Criticism

Nevertheless, its presentation was a cue for advocates of a balanced budget to criticize the President's support of continued government spending. He called it a "practical" means of putting capital and labor to work in building toward a national income of $80,000,000,000 annually. Present taxes, he said, would produce enough revenue from that income to balance the yearly budget.

The criticism came mostly from Republicans, although some Democrats joined in it. That fact gave rise to new talk of a possible coalition of conservative Democrats and Republicans lining up in opposition to the administration.

Senator Adams of Colorado was one Democrat who said he did not "enthus" over the spending plans, while Senator Holt (D-W. Va.) thought the government expenses could be cut if "needless jobholders are cut off the payroll."

But "Spending Spree"

Both Senator Townsend (R-Del.) and Vandenberg (R-Mich.) spoke of another "spending spree." Senator Taft (R-Ohio) viewed the "so-called government investment" as the "old pump-priming dressed up in new language."

URGES SPENDING TO AID RECOVERY

Reiterates Preparedness Theme Voiced In Annual Message

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—President Roosevelt asked vast sums for national defense today in a multi-billion dollar budget that projected another deficit and an unprecedented public debt of $44,458,000,000 in 1940.

His annual report to congress on the nation's finances advised emphatically against a "violent contraction" in spending or "drastic new taxes." He opened the year, however, to "moderate tax increases" to meet increased expenditures of $522,000,000 for armament and farm relief costs.

Calls For Spending

He called for $8,995,603,200 of federal spending in the fiscal year beginning next July 1 and estimated the deficit for that year at $3,326,343,200.

He asked $1,669,000,000 for national defense, including an extra $500,000,000 to speed up the armaments program. Of the latter sum, however, only $210,000,000 would be disbursed next year.

Reiterating the preparedness theme voiced in his annual message to congress yesterday, the President said all are aware "of the grave and unsettling developments in the field of international relations during the past few years."

"Because of the conditions of modern warfare," he continued, "we must now perform in advance tasks that formerly could be postponed until war had become imminent."

Form Not Specified

Mr. Roosevelt did not specify the form of the suggested new taxes. He recommended continuance of a group of emergency "nuisance" levies scheduled to expire June 30.

Crediting the administration's current spending program with aiding "the existing upward movement of business and employment," the President said it should not be curtailed "arbitrarily or violently."

The budget included an estimate that at least $750,000,000 would be required to operate WPA until June 30. Present funds are expected to run out Feb. 8.

For the next year, the President asked $1,500,000,000 for the WPA. He requested no new public works program but estimated $366,000,000 would be necessary to carry out work already under way.

Next year's $8,995,603,200 expenditure estimates, which did not include $100,000,000 to be used for paying off debt, compared with a forecast of $9,492,320,000 for the current year. Receipts were set at $5,669,320,000 and $5,520,070,000 for the respective periods.

Renews Recovery Plea

Mr. Roosevelt renewed his oft-repeated suggestion that the best method of obtaining a balanced budget is the promotion of economic recovery.

"We can not by a simple legislative act raise the level of national income," he said, "but our experience in the last few years has amply demonstrated that through wise fiscal policies and other acts of government we can do much to stimulate it."

"During the past nine years—a period which has seen the national income drop from a high of $81,000,000,000 in 1929 to around $40,000,000,000 in 1932 and rise again to about $70,000,000,000 in 1937—federal revenues, even though on a higher tax base, have never completely covered expenditures."

The President said that was a "well known fact" that the current spending program was necessary to check a recession.

"Any decision to decrease those expenditures now that recovery has just started," he continued, "would constitute a new policy which ought not to be adopted without full understanding of what may be the result."

"May I say emphatically that I am not suggesting an ordinary budget which is always balanced and an extraordinary budget which is always unbalanced."

The ordinary expenses of the government should continue to be met out of current revenues. But I also hope that those revenues in times of prosperity will provide a surplus which can be applied against the public debt that the government must incur in lean years because of extraordinary demands upon it."

NOT A DEAFENING REPORT

Members of the senate campaign expenditures committee, placed in the embarrassing position of having to hold a lion by the tail while their own senatorial brothers tempted it with raw meat, have made the best of a bad situation. They have concluded in an unanimous report that a great deal of monkey business was afoot in the 1938 contests for senate seats, that laws should be passed to prevent the same thing happening again, but that all contestants were gentlemen according to their various lights.

This is the report which was to explode a bomb under the practice of using WPA funds and WPA organizations for political purposes. The committee says this was done in some states and names Kentucky, particularly. Whether the report will come up to expectations is doubtful in view of its moderate nature. Nevertheless, it has helped to make one thing clear.

The fact that WPA funds and organizations do lend themselves easily to the schemes of politicians has proved embarrassing to the politicians, themselves. Popular suspicion is so active that the tendency is to assume a politician is guilty of playing politics with misery until and unless he can prove himself innocent. This leaves only one decision open. WPA must be taken out of politics for the sake of politicians. Apparently, that is what is going to be done. Harry Hopkins has moved out, and army officers have moved in.

A WEAKNESS FOR SPENDING

To adapt a remark ascribed to Harry L. Hopkins in a slightly different situation, the policy of congress is to talk and talk about saving, vote and vote for appropriation bills, and win votes.

Or, as frank congressmen sometimes put it, they vote against all tax bills and for all appropriation bills. Everybody talks about cutting down, particularly at first, but when it's time to adjourn more money has been appropriated than ever before.

The bulk of preliminary news coming from Washington the last few days has been about plans for curtailing cost of government. Vice President Garner's name has been mentioned frequently as the leader of a retrenchment bloc. There is no question about his earnestness.

There's no question, as far as that's concerned, about the earnestness of all men in Washington who talk about the necessity of getting a hammerlock on appropriations. Their intentions are good. The great weakness of representative government is failure to support public officials in good intentions. Everybody believes in economy, but always at the expense of someone else.

Perhaps it will be different this time. Probably not. Depend on it that the first bill for the relief or advantage of John Doe will find John, his sisters, his cousins, his uncles and his aunts whom he numbers by the dozen sending telegrams to their congressmen warning him to vote Yes or suffer the consequences.

WEDDELL HAS A SEA

The urge to be first spurs men into strange antics. William H. Hobbs, University of Michigan geologist, charges it spurred James Weddell of the British navy to perpetrate what is now a century-old fake in antarctic exploration.

Weddell, says Prof. Hobbs, made the same mistake which Dr. Cook later made. He claimed deeds and experiences as an explorer which were untrue. He got recognition (the Weddell sea is named after him) but his claims and maps do not stand scrutiny in the light of subsequent explorations.

This is only one scholar's judgment of a thing done a century ago. The same urge which may have prompted Weddell to practice imposture may be prompting Prof. Hobbs to be first to challenge his claims. Unfortunately, Weddell is not on hand to defend himself.

At least he still has a whole sea named in his honor, which is one more sea than Prof. Hobbs can point to with pride.

DOG IN THE MANGER

When the state department objects to Japanese imperialism in China—a closed door policy—it is doing more than demanding a share in the privilege of exploiting the Chinese.

The United States wants a share, naturally. It also wants to continue to have influence in Asia. It is this to which Japan objects. But it is not this, primarily, of which Japan should be thinking.

All commercial reports from the territory conquered by Japan contain this significant statement, according to M. S. Bates, professor of history in Nanking university. The people cannot buy. In a report made for the International Relief committee, Prof. Bates stresses the stagnation of manufacturing and agriculture.

Japan has gained control of parts of a poor country which has been further impoverished by war. It hopes to obtain raw materials from China. It hopes to sustain its own industrial economy by processing raw materials and selling its products back to the Chinese.

But Japanese imperialism has failed to calculate the fact that years will be required to put China on a paying basis. It is not an asset but a liability. Before money can be paid out, money must be paid in. That is part of the price of exploitation.

Japan is not wealthy enough to exploit China alone. It is doubtful if it is wealthy enough even to score a conclusive military victory in China. Its policy of exclusion amounts to demanding sole rights to support a commercial white elephant. That is the underlying meaning of the state department's warning that a closed door policy won't work.

MUCH high-tension activity is presaged for this day, according to aspects of the forward-looking planets, which wield powerful influence on the inventive and creative faculties. All sorts of innovations, novelties and bold experiments of a practical nature should receive splendid impetus. For furthering such progressive efforts there should be capital and substantial support from large institutions and "big business", and strangers or fresh contacts may stand ready with encouragement. In social, domestic and cultural directions there is much pleasant and profitable association. It is a most auspicious time for moving forward, even though the personal finances are low.

Those whose birthday it is are stepping into a year of unusual opportunity for putting into execution their ambitious and long-cherished plans for doing something unique or original "in a big way". Methods and objectives may be audacious, entirely new and out-of-the-routine, thus enlisting the solid support of big capital. Personal and social prestige also partake of this extraordinary stimuli, with hints of romance and adventure.

A child born on this day may be extremely talented, original, creative and productive. Not only will it be progressive in a practical and industrial, inventive or scientific manner, but in artistic and cultural expression as well.

FOR FARM ACTIVITIES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Congress was asked today to appropriate $968,158,851 for agriculture department activities—including $533,000,000 in subsidies to farmers—for the next fiscal year.

This would be $318,172,000 less than this year's appropriations.

President Roosevelt suggested in his budget message, however, that congress consider new taxes to meet any farm benefit payments in excess of the $533,000,000.

The President's recommendations included $485,000,000 for soil conservation payments and $48,000,000, the same as last year, for payments to sugar producers complying with the requirements of the sugar control act. For the current year, congress appropriated $500,000,000 for conservation payments.

Mr. Roosevelt told congress that it "might safely consider moderate tax increases" for meeting any parity payments it might deem necessary. He did not indicate whether he agreed with recommendations of Secretary Wallace that processing taxes be imposed.

The department activity sustaining the sharpest cut was rural relief and rehabilitation, under the farm security administration. The request for this agency was $60,000,000 compared with $175,000,000 received for the current year.

The President explained, however, that his recommendations for rural relief might be changed later, when congress considers the general farm bill.

To promote better trade relations with Latin America, Mr. Roosevelt asked congress to appropriate $250,000 to place agricultural attaches and to conduct researches for new non-competitive commodities which other nations in the western hemisphere might supply the United States.

He asked an increase of $1,370,000 in weather bureau funds to supply more detailed weather information to Transcontinental airlines as well as to proposed Trans-Atlantic lines.

Parents, Teachers Warned
To Fight Menace of Drugs

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

An interesting and rather disturbing book, written by Robert P. Walton, professor of pharmacology in the School of Medicine at the University of Mississippi, is called "Marihuana—America's New Drug Problem."

The author says that fathers and mothers, members of boards of education, high school teachers, women's clubs, welfare officers, police officers, physicians and nurses, Y. M. C. A.'s and Y. W. C. A.'s should all be interested in this subject, and I agree with him.

Marihuana is a narcotic, habit-forming drug, the use of which has grown rapidly in the United States in the last five years. Ten years ago it was little used here except in Texas and other parts of the southwest, usually by Mexicans. Within the last year 31 states have reported seizures of a varying quantity of the drug and destruction of areas of the growing plants.

Grows Wild In U. S.

Marihuana, or hemp plant, has the same effect as the Indian drug, hashish. The disturbing thing is that it grows wild in most parts of the United States, a fact which is known to the habits of the drug. Police and narcotic officers have seized supplies of the drug and destroyed many acres of the growing plants in Louisiana, Indiana, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Missouri and other states. This shows how widespread the distribution of the plant is and the easy opportunity of access to it.

When it is known that more than 100 peddlers were said to have been selling marihuana cigarettes to school children in Detroit and that school children in St. Louis, New York, New Jersey and Ohio have bought these cigarettes from peddlers, the seriousness of the situation may be realized. In December, 1937, a 20-year-old girl held up and killed a bus driver. Her husband testified that he had previously supplied her with marihuana cigarettes purchased on a main street of his city.

MY LOVE IS NEW

SYNOPSIS

Constance Darby is just 20 and terribly in love with young Terry Cannon, assistant athletic coach in an upstate college. In June, on a visit to his home in Northwood, he and Connie plan to marry the following October. For the summer, Terry will act as swimming instructor at a boys' camp and Constance will be secretary to Gordon Keith, well-known newspaper correspondent, radio commentator and popular man. As far as Northwood ladies know, his favorite son, halcyon Gordon, it did not return to write a book. It did not know that he was ostracized from New York because of a scandal and was also broke. Rosalind, Constance's 1-year-old sister, envies the life of luxury enjoyed by the life of luxury in the town called "The Hills." She has been seeing the wealthy Van Howard. Constance knows her he is not serious and would never marry her. "I'll show you," Rosalind retorted. "I'll show you!" While working for Gordon at the Carter Estate, Constance meets Avis Bailey, attractive, young debutante in the hands of some Gordon. When Gordon says that some day he and Constance will play tennis with Avis and Van Howard, Constance is troubled. "I won't let myself become involved with these people," Van promises his mother that he will not see Rosalind again. The latter is broken-hearted when he does not come to their usual rendezvous. As the day goes on, Gordon finds himself falling in love with Constance. En route to the exclusive Northwood Country Club with her for a swim: Women had always interfered with her work. It was because of them he was in debt and shunned by his New York friends. Would Northwood learn of the scandal he was involved in?

CHAPTER IX

And of the two girls in whom he was interested only one was good for him, Avis. And her money. What a fool he was to think of Constance as anything but a short-hand-taking machine? Yes, a fool. But he had always been a fool about girls, a fool and to many a villain. At least, he thought, he knew his weaknesses and admitted them to himself. But only to himself. Northwood's high regard for him amused him bitterly. Small-town snobs! Let them honor him! But now what he wished for most was to be a returned hero to the lovely girl who now sat beside him. "Tell me about your Terry," he said.

Her voice excited as it always was when she thought of Terry and spoke of him. Constance told him briefly of a love that had been mutual for as long as she could remember. Then she said, "Van Howard has stopped seeing my sister. If it will make Mrs. Howard happier to know that, you may tell her." Thinking of Rosalind's thick choked voice in the darkness, she felt a twist in her heart. "If Van had stayed with the Hills crowd where he belongs, this would never have happened. It doesn't seem quite fair."

"Life would be simple and much happier," Gordon said thoughtfully. "If small-town snobishness and small-town gossip could be eliminated I belong to the club and you're my guest. If they look down their noses at you this afternoon, pay no attention."

And so for the second time in her life and this time as a guest she passed between the high iron gates of the exclusive Northwood Country Club. Avis Bailey was standing on the broad steps of the clubhouse dressed in white shorts and a short-sleeved white sweater. Her legs and arms were brown. A white visor over her head shielded her eyes from the hot June sun.

Recognizing the sleek black cad, she walked toward it. "What—no work today?" she asked. "How come? Don't tell me it's because of the heat. Wait until August before you complain of that. Hello, Miss Darby. Is swimming or tennis I'm going in the pool as soon as I change."

"Could you let Constance have a bathing suit?" Gordon asked. "We didn't want to drive all the way back to town for her to get hers. I told her you had a variety."

In her husky voice Avis said, "You shall have my prettiest suit, Miss Darby."

The clubhouse was crowded with girls just out of the pool and those just about to go in. They looked at Constance with frank curiosity. Who was the strange, pretty girl who had come in with Avis, they wondered? But it was all right if she were with Avis. Anything Avis did was all right.

Avis opened the door of her locker and took out a blue satin bathing suit.

"This should be becoming to you," then, looking directly at Constance, she narrowed her eyes and said, "lowly. Take a little advice from me and don't believe anything Gordon tells you. Don't trust him. Don't be a little fool and fall in love with him. I'm telling you this for your own good."

"I work for him. That's all there is to it."

"Good. See you in a few minutes."

Was Avis jealous of her, she wondered as she undressed in the stifling cubicle? It was ridiculous. She wished that Terry were here to talk to.

Not waiting for Constance, Avis, wearing a white rubber bathing suit, met Gordon beside the parking pool.

"I didn't wait for her," she said curtly. "She'll find us." Then, "Gordon, she's a swell girl. Constance Darby, I mean."

His dark eyes narrowed. "Do you think she's worked for me for two weeks and I haven't discovered that yet?"

"Do you think I'm jealous? Well, I'm not!"

"Why should you be jealous of a mere secretary however beautiful—"

Constance is a sweet person but you are—well, you're you, Avis." He laughed. "Shall I make love to you before all these people to convince you?"

But her green eyes were unhappy. "I wish I could believe you. I could snub Constance, you know, and she'd never come here with you again. If she makes a fool of herself, I shall."

"Do you think she will?"

She shrugged. "I wish I'd gone abroad this summer. I shouldn't have stayed home." She smiled bitterly. "Years from now I'll look back and think 'How peaceful Northwood was until that summer Gordon Keith came back!'"

Constance, coming out of the bathroom, wondered what they were talking about.

Avis stayed with them all afternoon. Constance felt a detached but cheerful friendliness in her attitude toward her. But with Gordon she was charmingly sarcastic. They swam and sat on the edge of the pool. When a group just arriving paused to speak, it was Avis who introduced Constance to them, but she did not tell them that she was Gordon's secretary. Avis Bailey kind and thoughtful? In the town it was said that Avis had a vicious temper and spared no one's feelings. Constance thought, "But I like her. She's curt and ironic and a little bitter but she's real and honest. She looks at things straight and clearly. She's a girl I could trust."

Coming up from her third time in the water, she saw Van Howard talking with Gordon and Avis.

"This is Constance Darby," Gordon said. "I think you know her sister, Van."

A rush of color washed over his brown face. "Oh, sure. You're Rosalind's sister."

He left them and later when Constance came out of the bathroom alone, he was standing on the club steps. Seeing her, he came to her instantly.

"I'm glad I got the chance to see you alone," he said. "I—I wanted to speak to you about Rosalind."

Constance stood still, frowning a little in the sunlight.

Embarrassed, Van Howard looked down and dug the toe of his white shoe in the grass.

"You don't like me, do you?" he asked.

"I don't know you," Constance said earnestly. "And what you do is your own affair. But I happen to love Rosalind very much and care what she does. You're Van Howard and Rosalind is the daughter of a school teacher. Isn't that clear enough?"

"I know what you mean. I get it. But I—I happen to love her, too." He glanced up. "Does that surprise you? You think I'm just playing around? But you're wrong. Everybody's wrong. But what'll it get us? You don't know my family."

Constance said, "I don't want her to be hurt. That's what I care about most. Even if you love her as you say you do, it's one of those things that can't be—in Northwood. You know how it is. The people from the Hills and the people from the town don't mix. It doesn't make good sense but that's how it is. You speak another language."

But her worry was doubled! Van Howard was really in love with Rosalind! He wasn't just amusing himself. "I don't want to interfere and I don't want to do anything to make her unhappy."

"Tell her.... No, never mind. Don't tell her anything. Don't even tell her you saw me."

Government Trends Theme For Book Club's Program

Modern trends in government provided an interesting theme for the program presented yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the Book club in the library assembly room.

Members gave current events in foreign lands as response to roll call. The program included five papers: "Socialism", Mrs. Donald Cobb; "Communism", Mrs. J. R. Stratton; "Fascism", Mrs. W. P. Davis; Nazism, Mrs. Elizabeth Kirkbride; Americanism, Mrs. B. L. Flick.

Group singing of "America" was a feature of the musical program which included piano duets by Misses Mary Elizabeth King and Nellie Jean Yates; and vocal selections by Miss Ruth West, accompanied by Miss Mary Louise Emery.

Miss Coppock Bride of Glenn Watkins

Miss Bernice Coppock and Glenn Watkins were united in marriage at 2:30 p. m. yesterday in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Coppock, on the Depot rd.

Rev. O. A. Kelly, pastor of the Winona Methodist Episcopal church, officiated at the ceremony, which was attended by relatives and a few friends.

Miss Genesta Coppock, sister of the bride, and Carl Watkins, brother of the groom, were the only attendants. The bride wore an afternoon frock of teal blue crepe and her sister was dressed in rust-colored crepe. Both wore corsages of gardenias.

The vows were exchanged before an altar arrangement of palms and ferns and green and white tapers in candelabra.

Following the ceremony a luncheon was served to members of the immediate families. Miss Esther Brantingham and Miss Beulah Sell and Mrs. Lon Burawac assisted in serving the luncheon.

Guests, including Mrs. Mary L. Blackburn, great aunt of the bride, and E. L. Coppock, her great uncle, were seated at four beautifully appointed tables. Decorations in green and white were used.

Mrs. Watkins is a graduate of Salem High school, class of 1933. Mr. Watkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Watkins of Lisbon, graduated from Lisbon High school in 1932.

Following a Great Lakes wedding trip, the couple will reside for a short time with the bride's parents.

PROPOSE CANAL FOR OHIO AREA

Army Engineers Favor Connecting Lake Erie, Ohio River

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 5.—Chairman Mansfield (D., Tex.) of the house rivers and harbors committee intimated today that the board of army engineers had recommended a Lake Erie-Ohio river waterway via the Beaver, Mahoning and Grand rivers.

Termining the proposed canal "an improvement of national importance," Mansfield wrote in the congressional record that "the plans have been perfected, but due to major changes that have developed with respect to the economics of the board of engineers has submitted a new report which is now before the committee on rivers and harbors for consideration."

An army engineer said the formal report had not actually been sent to the capitol but was on its way. He declined further comment.

Mansfield's outline of the project virtually disposed of reports that the engineers contemplated any but the Beaver-Mahoning route. At least three other routes were under consideration some years ago. Within the past two years the army's field engineers recommended the Beaver-Mahoning waterway. The overall cost was estimated at nearly $200,000,000.

The present plan, said Mansfield, "contemplates a waterway extending from the Ohio river in Pennsylvania to Lake Erie near Ashtabula, via the valleys of the Beaver-Mahoning and Grand rivers. Such a waterway had been advocated by industry and transportation agencies for many years."

"Its Ohio river terminus would be 25 miles by water below Pittsburgh and its route would pass through the industrial centers of Youngstown and Warren. It would provide a direct water connection between the ore producing and industrial Great Lakes area and the coal, iron and steel districts of the upper Ohio basin. In a larger sense it would connect the Great Lakes water-borne commerce with the Ohio-Mississippi system of inland waterways leading to the Gulf of Mexico."

Theatre Attractions

Louise Rainer and Paulette Goddard have the stellar roles in "Dramatic School" at the State today and Friday.

The struggles of a factory girl to reach the heights as a great dramatic actress, her experiences in a typical dramatic school, and her battle of wits and emotions with a wily antagonist are unfolded with power and compelling human interest in "Dramatic School."

Lives in Imaginary World
"Dramatic School" tells the story of Louise Mauben (Louise Rainer), who toils in a meter factory at night to pay her tuition in a dramatic school. To her everything is a play and she weaves an imaginary world around her and creates an imaginary lover, the Marquis d'Abencourt (Alan Marshall), and the celebrated comedy star, Gina (Genevieve Tobin).

Henceforward the marquis becomes her phantom lover and she boasts of him to her classmates. But one, Nana (Paulette Goddard), suspects that Louise is a liar. Nana plans to expose Louise and invites her to bring the marquis to her birthday party. Louise arrives alone, explaining that she and the marquis had quarreled. The marquis walks in, sympathizes with her and takes her in his arms.

Romance Continues
The romance continues, but the marquis loves the Paris night life which causes Louise to become lax in her dramatic studies. Mme. Charlot (Gale Sondergaard) threatens to expel her from school. On the eve of expulsion, the marquis abandons Louise for an exotic dancer. Even though expelled, Louise praises Mme. Charlot as France's greatest actress. Mme. Charlot softens, and nominates Louise for the leading role in the most important play of the year.

Excellent Support
In addition to the outstanding performance of Louise Rainer and Paulette Goddard in the stellar assignments, the cast benefits by the fine work of Alan Marshall in the male lead, Lana Turner, Genevieve Tobin, Anthony Allen, Henry Stephenson and Gale Sondergaard.

The three Marx brothers' latest comedy, "Room Service," shows Saturday only at the State. Ann Miller, Frank Albertson and Lucille Ball have the principal roles. A new Buck Jones western, "Law of the Texans," will be seen Friday and Saturday at the Grand, together with a new chapter of the serial, "The Lone Ranger."

QUAKERS WORK HARD TO PREPARE FOR DOVER

STRONG CRIMSON TEAM TO BATTLE QUAKERS FRIDAY

Brown Expects Stiffest Test In First Game Of New Year

Equipped with scouting information obtained by Ted Jones, Coach Herb Brown has been sending his Salem High school basketballers through intensive practice sessions this week in preparation for their first game of the new year against Dover's highly-regarded Crimson quintet at the local gym tomorrow night.

Brown expects Dover to furnish the Quakers their stiffest test of the still-young season, even tougher competition than provided by the Alumni team which handed the Quakers a 30-21 defeat last Friday night.

Assistant Coach Jones watched the Crimson in losing a "sudden death" overtime game to Erie, Pa., East during the Christmas holidays and his report to Coach Brown commends Dover highly for a fine offensive and defensive machine.

With Jones' report as a guide, Brown has been devoting considerable time in building an attack which he hopes will be able to penetrate Dover's tight defense. A reserve quintet, with players bearing the names of Dover stars, has been working Dover offensive and defensive set-up against the varsity in practice sessions.

According to Jones' information, the Crimson, which this season is under the direction of a new coach, Bob Rettig, who replaced "Bup" Rearick, uses a man-to-man defense and alternates a fast break with a deliberate offense. The team has six good scoring threats in Forwards Lamonia, Groh and Schumaker, Guards Swinderman and Luthy and Center Burns.

Groh, who will be remembered for his sensational shooting which sparked the Crimson to a two-point victory over the Quakers last year, has not been playing up to par this season and may not be in the starting lineup tomorrow night. He will probably be replaced by Schumaker, who was forced to remain out of the lineup in Dover's early-season games due to a leg injury received in football.

Groh, Schumaker and Swinderman were considered regulars with the Crimson's team last season. Burns, Luthy and Lamonia are graduates of the reserve squad.

When Dover is using a fast break, Swinderman and Luthy are the most dangerous scoring threats while in a deliberate offense Lamonia and Burns must be watched closely. Lamonia is said to be exceptionally dangerous on shots from the left side of the court. Burns plays as the swivel position and has a well-developed pivot shot which he uses frequently.

Bill Schaeffer, the Quakers center, is expected to have his hands full in guarding Burns at the pivot post. Schaeffer has not as yet come up to the form which made him a valuable cog in the Quakers' machine of last season, although Brown is confident that the Salem center will again hit his 1937-38 stride.

Schaeffer is exceptionally important to the Quakers inasmuch as his height is needed to help get rebounds and his play at the pivot post figures prominently in the Salem offense. He was second high in scoring last season collecting more than 120 points, but he apparently has not found his "shooting eye" this season, having scored only nine points in three games.

The Quakers scoring and most of the offensive work in three games has been performed by Ames Dunlap, Burton Sutter, Glen McLaughlin and Glen Dehman. The offensive strength of Brown's team has been largely dependent on the play of Dunlap, Sutter and McLaughlin, all newcomers to regular positions. Dunlap showed up well in the Quakers first game of the season, but was off-form in his last two starts. He has been performing well in practice this week and may again break into the starting lineup.

McLaughlin, who is rated by many as the best ball-handler and the cleverest floor man on the squad, has been a puzzle to Coach Brown. He is considered an exceptionally accurate shot from all angles, but Brown has not as yet been able to get him to shoot enough.

Dizzy Declares Arm Okay Again

CHICAGO, Jan. 5.—Dizzy Dean, never known as a master of understatement, told a breathless baseball world today that his expensive right arm, lame most of last season, was okay again and that he would win 20 games for the Chicago Cubs this season.

He didn't even wait for the report of Doctor Sumner Knoch, noted surgeon who X-rayed the wing for which the Cubs paid $185,000 in 1938.

"I know my arm is okay again," Dean said, "because I took a peek at those X-ray things yesterday before they were dry, and O! Diz has been X-rayed so often he's an expert."

BOWLING RESULTS

The Columbiana Firestones, who moved into sole possession of first place in the Pastime league two weeks ago, remained in the top position last night by taking three games from Loudon V-8's.

Tyson's West End Service and the Citizens Ice & Coal continued in a tie for second place as Tyson's won three heats with Bossert's and the Citizens Ice team topped three games with the Hutter Coals.

In other Pastime matches, Robert's Men's Shop won two out of three games with the Jr. C. of C. No. 2, the Washingtonville Odd Fellows took two out of three games from the Stillhouse Chocolate Mills and Jr. C. of C. No. 1 emerged victorious in three games with Jr. C. of C. No. 3.

The Elks, Mullins and Ohio Edison won three games in Masonic Ladies' league matches at the Masonic temple alkys. The Elks posted its victories over the Electric Furnace to remain in the top position.

Ohio Edison moved into a tie for second with Kresges by winning three games over the Bankerettes. Mullins swept its match with Kresges.

SPEED FLIERS TOP AIR SHOW

Women Pilots Will Try To Lower Time From New York

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 5.—Heading the winter agenda for airplane pilots of the nation is Greater Miami's 11th annual all-America air maneuvers, opening at Municipal airport here Jan. 6 for an extensive three-day program.

The 1939 program of the air show will contain several additional features, including a New York-to-Miami air race and two races for women pilots exclusively. R. V. Waters, chairman of the air maneuvers, said.

The New York-to-Miami race, in which assaults will be made on existing New York-to-Miami speed records, will start at Floyd Bennett field in New York on the opening day of the maneuvers. Waters said.

The race will become a permanent affair, sponsored by Bernarr Macfadden, who has donated a solid silver cup as a permanent trophy and will award $2,000 to the winner each year. Second and third prizes of $1,000 and $500, respectively, will be awarded annually by the air maneuvers.

Three famous women pilots already have entered the New York-to-Miami race. Waters said. They are Louise Thaden, one-time winner of the Bendix trophy; Arlene Davis, well-known speed flier and stunt pilot, and Helen McCloskey, holder of several national speed records.

Women pilots competing in the New York-to-Miami dash also will enter the two races for women which will be innovations to the annual air maneuvers, according to Waters. The two races will be a 50-mile dash over a straight course for planes of 250 cubic inch displacement or more than a 25-mile race for planes of 200 cubic inch displacement or less.

Other events announced by the program committee included two 30-mile races for planes of 850 cubic inch displacement or under, a 30-mile race for sportsmen pilots, a 10-mile novelty race and dashes for various makes of craft of 200 cubic inch displacement or less.

It was announced that aerobatics, or stunt flying, would be given special emphasis at the show. Waters said many local pilots have expressed willingness to take part in the aerobatics competition, in which participation is by invitation.

Terminating the air maneuvers will be the annual Miami-to-Havana air cruise in which several foreign planes usually participate. The cruise will follow a planned route to the Cuban capital, stopping first at Key West, Fla., 160 miles south of here. The remaining 102 miles to Havana is over open water, but will be patrolled by the course.

Capt. Lem Povey, former instructor for the Cuban army air corps and now connected with the civil aeronautics authority in Washington, will lead the Havana cruise this year, Waters said.

TRADESMEN COP POSSESSION OF LEADING BERTH

Defeat Baptists to Take Over Lead In Class B Basketball Loop

Undisputed possession of first place in the first round race of the city Class B basketball league belonged to the Tradesmen Class today following the 24 to 17 victory the Tradesmen gained over the Baptists in the feature game of an all-Class B program at the Memorial building gym last night.

The victory was the fourth in as many games for the Tradesmen Class, while it was the first defeat in three games for the Baptists, who were formerly tied for first place.

A. Juhn hammered the basket for six field goals and added one free throw to lead the Tradesmen in scoring with 13 points. Vickers topped the Baptists scoring with seven markers.

Smith's Creamery posted its third victory four games in one of the other Class B engagements, vauling the Christians, 42 to 6. The contest was the most uneven played in the junior circuit to date.

Panzotto rang up 18 points by making eight field goals and two foul shots to set the pace for the winners.

With Wise, Theriault and Kerr leading the scoring, the Methodists "A" defeated the Methodists "B", 39 to 15. It was the second win in three games for the Methodists "A."

The Knights of Columbus registered its first victory in four games by spanking Roberts Men's Shop, 20 to 13. The defeat was the fourth in a row for Roberts.

McCloskey led the K. of C. to the triumph, scoring six points on three field goals.

BODY OF CLERK FOUND IN POND

"Plain Case of Murder"
Comment of Prosecutor
William J. Porter

MARYSVILLE, Jan. 5.—A diver reported today he found the weighty body of Clark Scott Hayes, 28, in an abandoned quarry and Prosecutor William J. Porter said "it's a plain case of murder."
Hayes, a clerk and delivery truck driver for the Charles Nichols grocery at Summerville, disappeared late Tuesday, the day before he was scheduled to be married to Miss Oletha Morrow, 26, of York township.

In 22 Feet of Water
The diver, who was assigned here by the Thatcher Dredging Co., of Toledo, said he found the body in 22 feet of water.

No immediate effort was made to recover the body until ice four inches thick could be broken from the pond. A boat was to be brought here by the state conservation department for use in raising the body to the surface.

Porter, who was at the quarry when the diver reported after exploring the depths of the old pool for 42 minutes, declared "we thought he had been slain and now we are going ahead and work on several angles which have developed."

Porter declined to discuss the information he had obtained or to speculate on a possible motive.

Hayes' truck was found early Wednesday near Summerville. The glass in the door on the driver's side had been smashed by a nine-pound rock that lay on the floor of the cab.

Investigators said the condition of the road indicated that the truck's path had been blocked by a small automobile.

Had Money
Among groceries in the back of the truck was found a billfold containing $100 of Hayes' money, which he apparently had tossed there hurriedly. A bag containing $47 collected from grocery deliveries was back of the driver's seat.

A hole in the ice on the quarry pond led county authorities to obtain the services of Tod Rabbit, Toledo diver.

Hayes was last seen after delivering groceries at the home of Mr.
and Mrs. William Marsh on the Claborn-Broadway road. His truck was found near Bokes creek on the same road.

SPLIT OVER U. S. SPENDING SEEN

Republicans and Democrats Join in Criticism
Of Expenditures

For the President's assurance that no new "reform" legislation was contemplated and for his appeal for stronger defenses, most congressmen had little but praise.
Some, however, warned against too big an armament program.

Mr. Roosevelt followed up his statement that "weapons of defense give the only safety against government's which resort to policies of force by sending to congress a request for $36,500,000 more to be spent by the navy this spring on ship construction and arms.

More Air Bases Asked Chairman May (D-Ky.) of the house military committee added to that request a proposal that $50-000,000 be spent over five years to put private munitions plants in shape to meet wartime needs, and a suggestion that the army be given additional air bases.

Both Republicans and Democrats found a point of agreement in endorsing Mr. Roosevelt's announcement that it was up to congress to polish many New Deal laws.
There was little prospect of early action on the President's recommendations for railroad aid and government reorganization. Before the house can do anything about the latter, it probably will be necessary to reappoint a special committee.

Chairman Lea (D-Calif.) of the house interstate commerce committee set Jan. 17 for the start of hearings on general transportation legislation.

Dog Owners Warned Of Rabies Threat

LISBON, Jan. 5.—A warning to dog owners concerning a possible repetition of the 1938 rabies epidemic, was issued Wednesday by Dog Warden Dan Butch.

Butch acted after a dog belonging to L. T. Williams of Le Waterford was declared rabid and destroyed. Four members of the family are taking serum treatment following discovery of the case.

The warden urges all owners to keep their pets tied to prevent spread of the disease. Immediate notification of all animals displaying rabies symptoms also is requested by Butch. Owners are asked to confine pets with suspicious symptoms, leaving their destruction to the warden, if circumstances warrant.

DAVEY WITHOUT FUTURE PLANS

"Seems Sweet To Be Going Away from Grind"
Governor Says

COLUMBUS, Jan. 5.—The departure of Gov. Martin L. Davey from the official scene here will find him, by his own word, without future political plans.

"Just now it seems sweet to be going away from the everlasting grind of the governor's office," he told more than 2,100 persons at a testimonial dinner last night. Then he added:

"But God knows what will happen to the old fire horse when the fire bell rings."

Nineteen state officials and Democratic party leaders praised the executive who will retire next Monday, and from Oral Daugherty, Athens county Democratic chairman, came the prediction that "the people of Ohio will call him in 1940 and ask him to be their public servant again."

Davey For President?
"I believe," he continued, "that in 1940 you will see the Ohio delegation voting for their favorite son, Martin L. Davey, for president of the United States."

Thomas Dye of Urbana, former Democratic state chairman, said that if Davey hoped to lead the Democratic party "down the straight and narrow path" he should call into counsel a few distinguished and unselfish friends of mature mind for consultation on political policies.

Of the incoming Republican administration, Davey said that "if human nature runs true, the army of occupation will be very disappointed and will be calling someone bad names within six months."

Davey was presented an automobile, paid for with $3,500 contributed by state employees.

was ill in a hospital here but his condition was not serious.

A TOOTHBRUSH FOR YOUR NOSE!

You brush your teeth every morning and evening, don't you? You do this to keep your mouth fresh and keep your teeth clean and free from decay.

Sinus pains are just as painful as the toothache,
but you can't have a sinus cavity extracted.
We don't suggest that you brush your nose with a toothbrush, but we do urge you to keep your nose clear and free from congestion.

If you have sinus trouble, PERANOL alone will not correct the condition. Your doctor is the one to consult. Wouldn't you rather we tell you the truth than make a lot of cure-all claims that cannot be substantiated?

PERANOL will relieve discomfort, from congestion of accessible membranes of the nasal passages.

Of course, PERANOL does cost a few pennies more than ordinary nose drops, etc. But every package of PERANOL contains many months' supply and a $1.00 refundable, non-leaking nebulizer that offers an entirely new principle of applying medication to the entrances of the sinuses. Satisfaction guaranteed or your druggist will refund your money without question.
